Parking "Fine": $2,500

Late for an appointment, George hardly parked his car in a pedestrian crosswalk. The possibility of a fine for illegal parking was not enough to deter him.

But to his dismay, the "fine" turned out to be $2,500. A pedestrian, forced to detour around his parked car, was knocked down by a passing truck—and George was held legally liable for the accident.

That is not an isolated case. Generally speaking, whenever you park your car illegally, you can be held responsible for all the foreseeable consequences. This may include not only injuries to pedestrians but even collisions between two other cars.

For example:

When two cars collided at an intersection, a court put the blame on a truck driver who had parked too close to the corner—blocking the STOP sign from view. An oncoming motorist, who had no reason to expect a stop street, had driven squarely into the path of another car.

In fact, you run the risk of liability whenever you stop your car in an improper manner, even if you are not violating a specific parking ordinance. Take this situation:

A motorist on the highway, catching sight of some deer in a meadow, stopped to watch. But he neglected to pull off the road first. As a result, there was a chain collision of cars behind him. Finding the man liable, the court said:

"The right of a motorist to enjoy the beauties of nature does not warrant stopping his automobile in the midst of traffic to satisfy his artistic and aesthetic proclivities."

On the other hand, the motorist who stops improperly is not responsible if there is no causal connection between his stopping and the accident that follows.

Thus, a driver who had parked in a no-parking zone was held not to blame when a second car ploughed into him from the rear. It seems the second car had been driving with his eyes cast downward, scanning the floor for a fallen cigarette.

The court pointed out that, even if the first car had stopped fully—say, because of traffic—the collision would have occurred just the same.

Whales Join the Navy

POINT MUGU, CALIF. (UPI)

The Navy has begun a study of the sonar system used by pilot whales.

The program is being conducted by the Naval Undersea Warfare Center headquartered on Oahu, Hawaii.

Two pilot whales, each weighing about 1,300 pounds, were captured off Southern California. One has been shipped to Hawaii and the other kept here. Purpose is to learn how they react to the different ocean conditions of the two locations.

In the past porpoises have been trained to work with the Navy's Man-Under-the-Sea program. Pilot whales are believed to dive to about 1,000 feet and could carry a much larger load than a porpoise.

LORD SNOWDON

Doesn't Think Much Of British Souvenirs

BY MARIS ROSS

LONDON (UPI)

Most of the souvenirs bought by tourists on their visits to Britain are a load of old rubbish, according to that right noble arbiter of taste, the Earl of Snowdon.

As any visitor to London knows, shops in this city abound with dolls in soldiers' uniforms, ashtrays bearing pictures of Buckingham Palace or Big Ben, a multitude of ornaments, odds and ends.

Lord Snowdon, fashionable photographer husband of Princess Margaret and sister-in-law of Queen Elizabeth II, really stirred up the souvenir trade recently.

"Most of the souvenirs in this country are low British rubbish and not always British, but made in foreign parts and brought over here," he said.

"It's the old ignorant thing. The manufacturers say they are making what people want. They wouldn't have the stuff in their own homes. They're enormously insulting to the public."

REBUTTAL

Harry Harris, coordinator for one of the big souvenir manufacturers, replied: "Lord Snowdon is talking rubbish. What does he want to do, put the gift trade out of work?"

"Prince Philip and the Government ask us to export more and more. Now we get Lord Snowdon making derogatory remarks about products which are being exported in very big quantities. At the time Lord Snowdon spoke he was acting as chief judge of 450 souvenirs submitted to a competition organized to encourage good designs for this year's investment of 20-year-old Prince Charles as Prince of Wales.

"Some of the entries were really terrible — even worse than one expected," said Lord Snowdon. His panel picked 166 winning souvenirs, including mugs, glassware, a fivepenny (five-cent) pencil and a 170-pound ($408) brooch of Carnarvon Castle.

where the investiture ceremony will be held.

"The souvenir industry is not a small one that one can take lightly, and I don't think they should be allowed to get away with anything," Lord Snowdon said.

As he said, many souvenirs sold in Britain are actually made abroad, often in Hong Kong, Japan and continental Europe. One postcard company admitted recently that their glossy scenes of London's landmarks were printed in Portugal because of cheaper production costs.

Belmont Upsets Union

NASHVILLE UPI — Belmont shocked Union, 68-64, Thursday night in the quarter-final action of the Volunteer State Athletic Conference Basketball Tournament to join Carson-Newman, King and Tennessee Wesleyan in tonight's semi-finals.

The lineup will find Belmont facing Carson-Newman and King meeting Tennessee Wesleyan. Carson-Newman dropped Belmont, 92-78, in the other Thursday night contest while King whipped Milligan, 84-80, and Tennessee Wesleyan topped the University of Tennessee at Martin, 66-64, in afternoon action.

Guard Dale Alsop poured in 19 points to pace Belmont's upset win over defending champion Union, the VAC Western Division champion the past two years. Union 15-10 had downed Belmont 9-16 twice earlier in the year.

Lonnie Searcy led Union with 20 points, Dan Rudess had 12 and David Marshall 11. Belmont led 40-31 at halftime. Union tied the game 57-57 on a basket by Rudess with 4:35 left. Gaines and Alsop hit consecutive baskets to give Belmont the lead again and Union never caught up.

Carson-Newman center Tommy Everett crammed in 35 points as the Eagles, the Eastern Division co-winners, raced past Bethel. Tony Mills had 19 points and 14 rebounds for Carson-Newman and Les Spitzer added 16 points.

Everett hit 11 of 10 from the field and all 13 free throw attempts before fouling out with 4:20 left as the Eagles boosted their record to 21-10. Sophomore center James Penn led Bethel 17-9 with 22 points, while Jack Keady had 21 and Jerry White added 18.

Carson-Newman led 34-30 at the half and then turned on the steam after intermission to build a 20-point margin before the Wildcats narrowed the gap down the stretch.

Wesleyan guard Kelly Aldridge scored 19 points to guide the Bulldogs past U-T Martin. John Barker added 17 and Jimmy Stewart had 15 for Wesleyan. Joe Lowry topped U-T Martin with 20 and Mike Rudolph netted 13 and pulled off 24 rebounds.

Wesleyan grabbed a 29-24 halftime lead and increased the margin to 12 points with 10 minutes left. U-T Martin sliced the gap in the closing minutes but was never able to gain the lead.

U-T Martin had the ball with eight points left and a chance to tie but was unable to get off a final shot. Wesleyan is now 13-16 for the year while U-T Martin closed 9-12.

King guard Ken Logwood scored 26 points to lead his team to a record-shattering win over Milligan. Logwood hit all eight of his field goal attempts and 10 of 15 free throws. William Cobb and Randy Williams added 21 points each.

King scored to a 56-29 halftime edge and really poured in the points in the second half. Three tournament records were set and another was tied in the contest. King set new marks for most points scored and most points scored in one half, while another record was set for most points in one half by two teams. King also hit 45 field goals to tie another mark.

Milligan 8-16 was led by Charles Tondle Cash with 15 points. King, the other Eastern Division co-winner is now 19-15.

DOGS AND HORSES shared the limelight on the Ames Plantation yesterday. For field trial fans, Tooth Acres Hawk styled up on a point. Horse patrons thrilled to the performance of Joe Webb and of The Entertainer, reserve world champion of walking horses.

Bird Dog Field Trials In Fifth Day

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. — Judges and handlers were hoping for fewer false points today during the fifth day of the National Bird Dog Championship Field Trials at the Ames Plantation.

Sentry and Kansas City Jake were paired for the morning round with Dr. Stormy Mack and Heir's Secret Agent braced for the afternoon.

Nearly all of the early contenders from the field of 37 points and five setters have been plagued with false points since the 12-day event began. Tooth Acres Hawk and Gun-smoke's Yon Way were the exception as they opened Thursday's running in the 70th annual stake.

Hawk, handled by Fred Arant of Barnwell, S. C., had three unproductive points in less than 35 minutes, a stop to the flush of birds, two more false points, then finished with a nice find in a wooded area.

Yon Way, also owned by Roger M. Kyes of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., executive vice president of General Motors Corp., and handled by Howard Kirk of Panama, Ala., had six finds and a nice back but a pair of unproductives in the closing minutes.

Wonsover's Blue One, the first of the competing setters, and pointer Possessed, ran in the afternoon. Blue One didn't run fast and pointed one one covey for handler Marshall Loftin of Norwood, La.

Possessed, guided by Bill Rayl of Fitzgerald, Ga., was halted after her fifth unproductive point.

Spectators were treated Thursday to a Tennessee Walking Horse show which featured the Entertainer, $85,000 reserve world champion owned by Chester Coon of Biggs, Calif.

Joe Webb, also owned by Roger M. Kyes of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., executive vice president of General Motors Corp., and handled by Howard Kirk of Panama, Ala., had six finds and a nice back but a pair of unproductives in the closing minutes.

Kentucky Hosts LSU Sat., Alabama Will Play At Tenn.

By DAVID MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer

ATLANTA (UPI) — It's too bad the Florida Gators got off to such a slow start this season; the way they've played the past month, they could have made the Southeastern Conference basketball race interesting.

The Gators, now 14-7 after back-to-back wins over front-running Kentucky and runner-up Tennessee, have won eight of their last nine outings with the lone loss in that span by one point, in overtime, at Auburn.

The Gators move into the state of Mississippi this weekend, playing at Mississippi State Saturday afternoon in the SEC's weekly television game, then at Ole Miss Monday night. They will be at home for their final three games Georgia, West Virginia and Alabama.

The Vols host Alabama Saturday night, Louisiana State Monday. The only team in the Deep South which appears to have its post-season plans set is 6th-ranked Kentucky. The Wildcats, 18-3 over-all and 12-1 within the SEC, are well on their way to their 24th league title and 18th NCAA berth.

The Wildcats, two games ahead of Tennessee in the SEC standings, will be host Saturday to Louisiana State and "Pistol Pete" Maravich, the national scoring leader 43.9 ppg who poured in 52 points down South which appears to have its post-season plans set is 6th-ranked Kentucky.

season. They took their lone home loss of the year from Vanderbilt, then lost to Kentucky and Tennessee by one point on the road to fall four games off Kentucky's pace with the conference portion of their schedule only one-third along. They stood 6-6 over-all at that point.

Maravich needs 37 points against Kentucky to become, with four other games yet to play this season, the highest two-year scorer in NCAA history. Houston's Elgin Hayes set the two-year high of 2,095 last year.

Maravich, who now has 2,059 points, already has scored 97 more points than the SEC career record Bailey Howell set in three seasons.

John C. Winter Presents Program For Music Club

The Music Department of the Murray Woman's Club met Tuesday, February 19, at seven thirty o'clock in the evening at the club house. Mrs. Vernon Shown, chairman, presided at the meeting.

Mrs. William Porter gave a devotion from the book "Christ in the Fine Arts" using as a theme that God is the creator of not only truth but music, which is an expression of the soul.

"Pipe Organs of the Sixties, in Tapes and Slides" was the program presented by John C. Winter, professor of piano and organ of the music faculty of Murray State University. Information was collected for this program when Mr. Winter and his family toured portions of Kentucky, Tennessee, Indiana, and Louisiana in the summer of 1967. His purpose was to get on tape the sounds of different pipe organs made in the last ten years.

As an introduction Mr. Winter showed slides of three organ factories which he had visited, with comments on the construction and voicing of pipe organs.

He then played tape recordings for his performances of the sanctuaries and exterior of the churches visited.

These churches included Trinity Episcopal Church, Baton Rouge, Louisiana; North Christian Church, Columbus, Indiana; St. Matthews Episcopal Church, Louisville, Kentucky; Memorial Presbyterian Church, Louisville, Kentucky; Brainerd Baptist Church, Chattanooga, Tennessee; and Calvary Episcopal Church, Louisville.

Selections performed on the organs were "Noel in G" by Dequin; "From Heaven on High" by Pachelbel; "Dialogue" by Cherubini; "In Thee is Gladness" by Bach; "Carillon" by Sowerby and "Carillon Sortie" by Mulet.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Maurice Humphrey, Mrs. James R. Allbritton, Mrs. Garnett Jones, Mrs. Emma Lou Wilson, Miss Lillian Waters, Mrs. James Woodard, Mrs. H. W. Wilson and Mrs. M. G. Carman.

Chalking is a normal condition which occurs on many white and pastel exterior paints, allowing the surface to retain a desirable clean appearance for a number of years. However when paint chalks excessively it will not last long. By applying two generous coats the job will last longer.

Married Couples on the Warpath

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: As a law enforcement officer I am frequently called to come and break up a fight in which the husband and wife are going at it tooth and nail. And when we get there, the place is a shambles, and the fighters are nursing each other's wounds. Sometimes one or both need to be taken to the emergency room of the hospital for treatment of cuts and broken bones. And do you know what? Neither one will swear out a complaint against the other. We've been called to the same house repeatedly to break up these domestic fights. Yet, if no charges are filed, nothing can be done.

What is the matter with people like that, Abby? Are they nuts, or am I?

DEAR OFFICER: They're a little "nuts." Some people have a neurotic need to be punished. They even provoke it. But there is nothing you can do about it as long as this "need" persists.

DEAR ABBY: My son is 12, and in the sixth grade. About two months ago he came home from school and announced that he HAD to stay up until eleven o'clock to watch a movie his teacher wanted the whole class to see. It dealt with some period of history they were studying. His usual bedtime is 9 P. M. but I decided that once wouldn't hurt, so I let him. Well, a week later it happened again, so I said, "No, I'll watch the movie and tell you about it!" I spent two hours watching a movie that even I didn't understand.

This has happened six times already, and I am sick and tired of that teacher telling my child how late he can stay up. I'd go and talk to that teacher but my son would rather I didn't. Should I anyway? Or should I ignore the whole thing and continue doing my son's "homework"?

DEAR MOTHER: Have a talk with the teacher. An occasional late TV "assignment" is permissible, but I think she's overdoing it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a waitress in a bar and restaurant and I could write a book about tipping.

The man who puts on his glasses and re-adds the bill has more self-confidence than the man who pays the check without even looking it over. But he's only a fair tipper.

The old men who pinch and call me "Honey" are testing. If I smile, they tip well. If I'm cool, they don't.

I can always tell if a man is with his wife. If he is, he's a poor tipper. If he's with his girl friend, he's generous.

Men with mustaches, long sideburns and this-year's suits are bigger tipppers than those who dress more conservatively.

Women alone (or worse yet, in groups) are downright stingy. They ask for separate checks and always leave PENNIES!

Thank heavens no kids are allowed in here. All they leave are empty ketchup bottles and dirty napkins.

Come in and see me, sometime. You'll learn plenty.

ELLA IN NEWARK

CONFIDENTIAL TO "NOT SURE": As I see it, your biggest problem is not getting stuck with the ring. DON'T become officially engaged to a girl to "get her off your back" while you're "thinking it over." More men have been stuck with girls than with rings.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 6706, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FOR ABBY'S BOOKLET, "HOW TO HAVE A LOVELY WEDDING," SEND $1.50 TO ABBY, BOX 6706, LOS ANGELES, CAL., 90069.

The opened shoe is the shoe to have, starting right now, getting the jump on summer, says the National Footwear Institute. The style, tried last year, worked well in both Europe and America. A city sandal to consider: a criss-cross of straps. Another is a shelter-toed shoe buckled off at the sides and opened at the back. Other interpretations: an oxford or spectator with everything possible pared away until what remains is a sandal.

Resale Considered In Buying Home

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Increasingly, in our mobile society, families buy homes not for a lifetime but for a few years. They buy with an eye to resale value.

Some tips on how to buy such a house come from Robert J. Weston, general manager of Boise Cascade Building Products, a man who has bought and sold nine homes.

Weston claims, "no crystal ball" on the subject, but says he sold eight of his homes at a "good profit."

"My one goof? When I moved to Texas, I bought a house with the express purpose of reselling it later. I picked out a very average house, thinking it would appeal to the average family. It was so usual, no one wanted it. I sold at a loss."

Weston believes firmly that just liking a house isn't enough. You have to love it, he says. "On rare occasions, it's love at first sight — and when this occurs, don't fight it," he advises.

He does suggest, however, that you hold off buying until you can check that it's in a location you'll enjoy, with good quality schools, a convenient well-equipped shopping center and access to recreational, medical and library facilities.

If a house has most of the essentials, a drawback or two won't matter. "For example," Weston cites, "a bit longer drive to work won't bother you. The other advantages will outweigh the drawbacks."

Weston advises buying at the "absolute maximum price you can afford because it's a pretty sure bet five years from now that the care and feeding of your mortgage is going to be much less of a strain for you than it is now. Working people's incomes usually increase and, historically, the value of lovable homes also has increased."

He also recommends arranging for the lowest possible down payment "so you can have cash to put in trees and landscaping, as well as certain important furnishings such as window coverings." He recommends obtaining professional advice from a registered landscape designer and decorator. "These cash expenditures, if made with professional advice, can add measurable value to your ownership," he says.

He also cautions care in selecting builder or real estate agent. "A house that was misrepresented can lead to an unhappy home-owning experience."

Old Homes

When buying an old home, don't look at what the house is but what it can be.

In an older neighborhood, he says, it may make sense to purchase a house in poor condition if the skeleton is sound and if the house is surrounded by homes in good condition. Although an older home occasionally can be acquired where little or no sprucing up is required, this is the exception.

Weston offers the following remodeling hints:

As a starter, separately list things that need redoing in two groups. Make Group One the essential things. For instance, effective winter heating is essential.

For the essential items, Weston feels it is a good idea to deal with one reputable contractor who'll give you a guaranteed price and get the whole job done in a short period of time.

Any kitchen over 10 years old may work all right, but generally it will benefit from a thorough face-lifting. This goes for bathroom, too, Weston says, but urges that professional help be sought for these areas.

Putting up wood paneling, ceiling tile, painting and papering, however, are jobs that anyone with a little manual dexterity can accomplish.

Weston emphasizes the importance of landscaping in remodeling an old home. He says "creative landscaping can screen out a funny-looking window, make a squat house look tall and emphasize any architectural assets of a home. Have a registered landscape architect draw up a master plan for you. Once the master plan has been determined, landscaping lends itself to being completed in nibbles rather than big bites."

"In landscaping," he suggests start with the structural elements such as concrete, outdoor lighting, fencing, screens and decks, then go on to trees, shrubs and leave the lawn for last. You can get a good lawn in a year but nothing exciting happens to a tree in a year."

THREE SHEETS TO THE WIND—The Grand River went down in Johnson Park at Grandville, Mich., but ice sheets stayed high and dry, clinging to the trees they formed around. Amateur photographer Bill Hill preserved this scene on film.

SEES CAPITOL — Tricia Nixon had luncheon Tuesday with Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, president of Capital Historical Society. President Nixon's 22-year-old daughter toured the Capitol which she said she had seen many times but not in the way I saw it to.

"HAIR" STAMP — Japan's Postal Ministry announced today it will issue a stamp showing a semi-nude woman. The stamp was copied from a painting entitled "Hair," in which one woman is sitting nude waist up while her sister combs her hair. She represents her father on the society.

NO TRACE — Search party officials said today they had found no trace of British yachtsman David A. Bailey, an architect from Lowestoft, Suffolk, who disappeared Monday night rowing a skiff near Hong Kong.

The Israeli El Al airliner on runway after the shooting.

One of the assailants lies dead in the snow. Beyond is their car, in which was found a small arsenal of guns.

NO MALICE

No American who ever lived had a greater grasp of the true meaning of freedom than Abraham Lincoln, the kindly and rugged-faced man who described this nation as having been "conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

But Abraham Lincoln knew that liberty could not be won and maintained by men alone. He acknowledged Divine power. The Great Emancipator made that clear in all his classic utterances. The closing lines of the Gettysburg Address is our best example: "...that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth; that is Americanism."

RECORDS

CONCERT

BY DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Philippe Entremont is the latest pianist whom the record-maker, Columbia, has labeled with the term, "genius." Columbia had better watch out. If too many pianists get labeled as geniuses, the genius of each one will lose sales appeal.

To be sure, Entremont is a technically excellent and highly communicative pianist. He is being promoted as genius on the basis of two new recordings and two collections from the now formidable repertoire he has recorded for Columbia in the past. One of the new ones is of the Chopin waltzes (7196). The other is of Bartok's 2nd and 3rd concertos, with the New York Philharmonic, Leonard Bernstein conducting (7145).

One of the collections is called "Clair de Lune — the world's favorite piano pieces. Beginning with Debussy's Clair it ranges over three records, over three familiar pieces of Liszt.

Rachmaninoff, Falla, Beethoven, Schumann, Bach, Brahms, Dvorak, Paderewski, Mendelssohn, Mozart, Prokofiev, Chopin, and of lesser lights (D3S-791).

The other collection is of "Concertos by Moonlight," which adds up to "favorite" movements from concertos by Grieg, Gershwin, Rachmaninoff and Tchaikovsky. The orchestra was either the Philadelphia, with Eugene Ormandy conducting, or the New York Philharmonic and Bernstein (7197).

Each offering is accompanied by a picture-filled booklet displaying the extroverted Entremont at his most charming and detailing his past Columbia recordings, in case you want to build an Entremont library. Few pianists are given such intensive promotion but few can justify it any better.

In 1922 Sir Adrian Boult conducted the first performance of Ralph Vaughan Williams 3rd symphony. In 1944 Boult was the first conductor for Vaughan Williams 6th symphony. From that you may gather Boult is the authoritative conductor for the English composer who died in 1958.

And indeed he is, as he demonstrates with a new recording of the 3rd, along with the composer's early work. "In the Fen Country," (Angel 36532)

The final movement of the 3rd begins with a girl singing wordlessly over a rolling drum. Margaret Price was the singer of and of the 6th along with the composer's violin-orchestra romance, "The Lark Ascending" (Angel 36469).

the recording and a very effective one. But all these Vaughan Williams pieces are effective and grow more and more so with re-hearings. Boult with loving attention to details enhances their warm glow. His orchestra was the New Philharmonia. (Release Fri., Feb. 14 or after) recent arrivals on Broadway are richly flavored with the spice of old world folk music.

They are "Zorba," the fantastically successful musical version of the "Zorba the Greek" movie, and "The Magilla of Itzik Manger," a hit musical from Israel.

"Zorba" is a musical gem that should find a permanent place in the theatre, so that future generations may enjoy its story, songs and dances. John Kander has written a vibrating score and Fred Ebb has embellished it with sensitive lyrics. Herschel Bernardi is as convincing as "Zorba" on stage as Anthony Quinn was in the movie. Maria Karnilova is outstanding as "Hortense." All the music is good; especially "Life Is" and "I Am Free." The original cast has recorded the score (Capitol SO 118).

"The Magilla of Itzik Manger" is equally entertaining even though it lacks the box office appeal of "Zorba." For one thing the title of the musical might seem too foreign. And the songs are sung in Yiddish. But Joe Darion offers a commentary in English that makes the plot simple to follow, just as a libretto aids the opera goer.

Itzik Manger draws from the Book of Esther in the Old Testament to create his story of outwitting a Persian prime minister who tries to kick the Jews out of what is now Iran. Pesach Burstein, Mike Burstein, Lillian Lux and an outstanding chorus generate an electric atmosphere in translating this story into a musical treat. The original cast recording (Columbia OS 3270) is a fast-moving account of the proceedings and it is worth many re-plays.

Tea At Royal Estate Aims To Attract Tourists

By MARIS ROSS

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II is going to sell tea to tourists.

She will not dole out the cups personally, but visitors to the country estate of Sandringham will be able to buy a royal cuppa, a bun, a light snack or an ice cream in the cafeteria which will open next spring.

The queen's venture into the catering business is part of the improvement of tourist facilities at Sandringham, where the grounds are opened to the public to raise money for charity.

But the figures fell off this year by 15,000 visitors, dropping down to $7,000, even though the gates opened a record 64 days between May 1 and Sept. 30. So the lure next year will be the cafeteria, built by the Royal estate workers, and an even greater number of public days — measures which other British stately home owners are taking to so well.

Some stately homes have zoos, funfairs, even lions roaming around. Sandringham has no gimmicks but for a souvenir stand which gives tourists the opportunity to boast: "I bought this at the Queen's home."

Sandringham is a 265-room mansion standing on a 15,000-acre farming and sporting estate in Norfolk near the English east coast, 105 miles from London.

The Royal Family always spends the New Year there and makes other visits. Prince Philip, Queen Elizabeth's husband, goes for the shooting. Thousands of pheasants and partridge are shot by the distinguished parties that go out each season, as well as pigeons in the woodland and mallard ducks on the salt marshes.

Prince Charles, the 20-year-old heir to the throne, uses Sandringham as a weekend retreat from his studies at Cambridge University.

The house is not open to the public but they can wander through the grounds, where vast lawns sweep away to landscaped trees and an artificial lake. Formal flower beds are laid out in front of the house.

King Edward VII bought the estate in 1861 when his mother, Queen Victoria, was on the throne. The price then: 220,000 pounds ($328,000) for 7,000 acres.

He added to the acreage, pulled up the neglected farms, and pulled down the old house. In its place went the rambling, red brick mansion that stands today with a host of pinnacles, chimneys and gray slate roofs.

The Royal Family always used to spend Christmas there, in a fair amount of discomfort because the winter wind would blow off the North Sea and through the high-ceilinged rooms and long corridors of the house.

The impracticality of such a huge house for brief visits led the Queen last year to renovate Wood Farm, a four-bedroom house that had been let to the local Royal doctor. Now Prince Charles stays there when he invites friends for the weekend from Cambridge instead of opening up the main house.

Another decline of the old estate life took place this year when Norfolk fire service absorbed the private Sandringham fire brigade which King Edward VII formed from estate workers.

They had worn a Royal uniform and turned out once every two weeks to practice with a 32-year-old fire engine bearing the coat of arms on its side.

Their main calls to duty were for local chimneys and brush fires but once they tackled a blaze that damaged 26 of Sandringham's 365 rooms.

Rod & Gun Club Will Hold Shoot

Paris Rod and Gun Club's merchandise shoot Saturday and Sunday will feature prizes from more than 40 Paris businesses. Winners may receive anything from gasoline to a chicken dinner.

Saturday's shooting will begin at 1 p.m. and shooters will begin firing Sunday "as soon as the sun comes out," according to Jerry Richardson, chairman of the event.

The shoot will take place at the club's recently rebuilt and remodeled shoot and trap range near Buchanan Road, just off Hwy. 79, 15 miles east of Paris. "We have the best array of prizes for any shoot we have ever held," Richardson said. "I would like to invite anyone who likes shooting to come and participate."

Richardson explained that shooters would be grouped according to ability, thus affording everyone an equal opportunity to win.

All prizes were donated by Paris merchants and at least fifty items will be up for competition. "I want to emphasize that much of the money from contents of this type put on by our club will be used in our junior hunter safety course and other worthwhile community activities," Richardson said.

"Also I want folks to see our new clubhouse, located on the grounds with the shooting range." Coffee and sandwiches will be available.

GIVES ADVICE

WASHINGTON (U) — Dr. Paul Dudley White has a prescription for President Nixon for avoiding heart attacks: "Don't sit on your faty acids." The famed heart specialist, who treated President Eisenhower for an attack in 1955, gave Nixon the advice during a White House ceremony at which he received a National Heart Association Award for distinguished volunteer service.

Truman Goes To Hospital Thursday

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Former President Harry S. Truman, 84, was taken from his independence, Mo., home to Research Hospital late Thursday night, suffering from what a hospital spokesman said was inflammation of the lining of the stomach and the intestines.

Truman's wife, Bess, said the illness was not serious. "He felt wonderful all day," she said. "He ate a hearty meal just before it happened. He relaxed after dinner and retired for the night."

She said the illness occurred about 11:30 p.m. EST. "Oh, it's nothing serious," Mrs. Truman said. "It's just a minor attack and I'll be going to see him in the morning."

Hospital spokesman John Drees said Truman's condition was satisfactory and the former president suffered no discomfort.

Drees said the medical term for Truman's ailment was "acute gastroenteritis."

Finally he leaves after saying straight up in our face. We don't know what they treed in the gutter pipe, but whatever it was kept quiet.

We holled again and the little dog next-door got all excited and put in his two bits worth.

By this time all the commotion had waked up the wife and she asks what the heck is going on.

We explain that these two Beagles, have got something treed in the gutter and that we are holled to vacate the area. One of them leaves but the other one keeps sniffing where we are going to plant two red climbing roses come spring.

We keep holled at him and at the same time we yell at Lady to be quiet since she is adding nothing to the situation except confusion.

Finally he leaves after saying straight up in our face. We don't know what they treed in the gutter pipe, but whatever it was kept quiet.

With all the hullabaloo over, we fastened the screen again, pulled down the window and things got quiet once more.

These Beagles better stay away for a while because we don't take too kindly to being awakened at 4:00 o'clock in the morning by such goings on.

Wonder what they treed in the gutter pipe?

Thanks Mr. Hicks we appreciate your letter and your report. We put in the right figure for the Kentucky sales tax on your check. It is 5c on the dollar.

We knew two Beagles that had better watch their step. We don't mind them sniffing around during the daytime, but when they wake us up at 4:00 o'clock in the morning after they have treed some nocturnal denizen of the woods in the gutter that runs down the corner of the bedroom, that is too much.

There we were sleeping the sleep of the blessed when this big burrah wakes us up.

We did not know what the heck was going on. Sounded like a hog was trying to work his way along the gutter and the two Beagles were baying like all got out. This disturbed Lady and she was barking.

We raise up, open the window and the screen and look out and there are these two darn Beagles scratching on the bottom of the drain pipe, sniffing and baying, all at the same time. We yelled for them to desist immediately, cease their baying and depart from the premises at once. This had absolutely no effect.

We holled again and the little dog next-door got all excited and put in his two bits worth.

By this time all the commotion had waked up the wife and she asks what the heck is going on.

HEART SUNDAY

za, Inter-Fraternity Council representative, approximately 200 members from the sororities and fraternities will be canvassing the city Sunday, February 22.

Heart Sunday will be observed here as the high point of the month-long Heart Fund Campaign. The volunteers will begin a door-to-door solicitation at 12 noon Sunday, to give every resident of Murray a personal opportunity to fight the nation's number one health enemy — heart and blood vessel diseases. The residential canvass will continue throughout Sunday afternoon until all are given the opportunity to give.

Literature being distributed by Heart Sunday volunteers emphasizes the importance of getting the benefit of presently existing knowledge in the cardiovascular field, and underscores the need to support research from which tomorrow's advances may come. The Heart Sunday Drive has in the past yielded millions of dollars statewide for heart research, scholarships, clinics, and aid to heart disease victims in the Commonwealth.

When the volunteer finds no one at home, he or she will leave a preaddressed "not-at-home" envelope in which a contribution may be sent to Heart Fund headquarters during the next few days.

Miss Goad urges the people of Murray to give generously to the 1969 Heart Fund volunteer who will call at your home on February 23. Help to make this the most successful Heart Sunday appeal in the history of our community. Give — give so more will live!

HOW APOLLO 9 WILL LINK UP — The sketch shows the Apollo 9 docking operation during the 10-day Earth orbiting. Success depends a good deal on the range-finders (front view, upper; rear view, lower) at right. The instrument will be bracketed in the Command Module. Large knob is turned to produce the range readout. Small button on front panel turns on light for night reading. The Command Module pilot will sight on smaller Lunar Module to bring them together for rendezvous and docking. This is paramount for the Moon landing on a later mission.

DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. J. K. Phillips, Sr., Miss Phillips is one of the Symphonic Orchestra violinists. She is a junior at Tighman High School where she is a member of the school orchestra.

Meeting bi-monthly, the orchestra practices from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Saturdays in the Price Doyle Fine Arts Building at Murray State. Conducted by the sessions is Neale Mason, MSU faculty member.

The string section was the first organized when the PAYSO was formed last November. Auditions were held for woodwind, brass, and percussion positions after application forms were mailed to area high school band directors.

Shortly after Christmas the first full rehearsal of string, woodwinds, brass, and percussion was held.

At the February 22 meeting a set of constitutional bylaws will be presented to the orchestra for adoption.

These bylaws were drawn up by a committee consisting of Mason; Leonard Whitmer, music instructor at University High School; Richard Farrell, chairman of the Fine Arts Department; and Donald Story, Murray State music instructor.

A board of directors is being formed to act in an advisory capacity in assisting the self-governing PAYSO. Its organization is expected to be completed this spring, according to Mason.
